Touch Reflexology is a revolutionary method of working on the Integrated Reflex System. The purpose of this introductory weekend is to explore and improve part of the Intelligence of this Integrated Reflex System.

Reflexology is a method of improving health by applying pressure or massage on different reflex areas or zones of the body. Although it is a very old method, it has not undergone much change, especially the force that practitioners conventionally have been taught to apply, has remained often very strong, sharp and hard.

Touch Reflexology - the revolutionary method of working on the Integrated Reflex System - involves very soft and gentle touch, often just a few grammes of force. It relies on empathic contact on certain areas or zones of a reflex system, like the foot or the hand. Thus it activates not only just the local zone but immediately, through a chain reaction, all the other corresponding zones of all the other reflex systems. As a result, it is possible to recover and improve the long neglected intelligence of the reflex systems, especially of the foot, so that it can deter in time any excessive stress before it presents itself and becomes hazardous to the mind and the body.

This introductory weekend is about exploring and improving a particular part of the Intelligence of the Integrated Reflex System. This part is a certain area or zone of the foot that reflects the whole neuromusculoskeletal system. The area of the foot that reflects the whole neuromusculoskeletal system is the first choice, simply because more and more modern people suffer from muscular and joint discomfort and pain.

By joining this weekend course, it is possible to witness the wonder of reflex intelligence at work, in speed, range and other levels. It is also possible to learn in this weekend how to properly tap the reflex intelligence. It is important to learn this skill properly because the only way to fully activate the hidden Intelligence of the Integrated Reflex System is through soft and gentle empathic touch. Once the intelligence of the reflex part of the neuro-musculoskeletal system is activated and begins to manifest, the skeletal system will automatically adjust and align itself, and at the same time, the discomfort or pain of the muscular system will start to be alleviated without resorting to any unnatural manipulation externally.
